OUR HISTORY

'MODERN BUSINESS, TRADITIONAL VALUES'

The Elder family have been passionate about selling properties in Derbyshire since the 1940's. Shortly after the second World War, Major Bryan Elder started his career within the property industry in Heanor, trading as 'Bryan Elder Chartered Surveyors and Estate Agents' becoming a reputable household name within the local area. Later, he then expanded the business and became associated with Mr William Twells and Mr Peter Rose, becoming 'Elder, Rose and Twells' Estate Agents.

Bryan's son, David, started his estate agency career in Ripley, trading from his office on the Market Place. David then later joined forces with his brothers and ran the Elder & Twells branch in Ilkeston, where he was a very well-respected character within the local industry. His enthusiasm and keen interest in Agriculture came in helpful as this was a key part of his role within the business often selling agricultural land. David's son Andrew joined the family business in 2012, aged just 17, and by 2015 they launched Elders Estates.

Following in both his Fathers and Grandfathers footsteps, Andrew found his strong passion for property very quickly. Since then, he has been leading from the front, clients especially like the personal touch that Andrew brings to the business, being able to communicate with him from the initial valuation to the key handover, giving them the confidence and peace of mind throughout the whole process. Andrew has a keen eye for detail and strives to deliver the best service to every client he works with and as the third generation will maintain the traditional values the Elder family have offered over the years.

WHY US?

So, why should you instruct us to sell your property?

We know that selling your home can be stressful, that's why we pride ourselves on being a dedicated Estate Agent that specialises solely in residential sales, guiding you all the way through the process.

As your property will most likely be the largest asset you own, we strongly believe it is essential that the marketing material showcases your home in the best possible light to encourage the best possible price, which is why we work with a professional marketing team for all the properties we sell.

The homes we sell gain the same exposure as they would with a national agent, coupled with the kind of local know-how that national agents can only dream of. We know the area, the people and the market. We make the most of this local knowledge; it helps us understand the value of every home we sell – we then find the buyers who will see its value too.

Myself and my partner purchased a house through Elders and WOW!!! Andrew is an absolute asset to the company. Communication between him and myself was very frequent, I was always being kept up to date. As first time buyers we were made to feel at ease. I would highly recommend Elders and would happily use in the future if needed.

Elders sold our property within 10 days of it going on sale. We were very impressed with the quality of the photographs and the marketing advice given to us.
